I said it in the meadow path,
I say it on the mountain stairs—
The best things any mortal hath
Are those which any mortal shares.

The air we breathe, the sky, the breeze,
The light without us and within—
Life, with its unlocked treasuries,
God's riches—are for us to win.

The grass is softer to my tread
For rest it yields unnumbered feet;
Sweeter to me the wild rose red,
Because she makes the whole world sweet.

Into your heavenly loneliness
Ye welcomed me, O solemn peaks!
And me in every guest you bless
Who reverently your mystery seeks.

And up the radiant peopled way
That opens into worlds unknown,
It will be life's delight to say:
"Heaven is not heaven for me alone."

Rich through my brethren's poverty—
Such wealth were hideous! I am blest
Only in what they share with me,
In what I share with all the rest.

THE OLD MANSION.

BY MAY R. DOLPH.

Mr. Mandeville had just come into his office on a blowy, blue-skied, blustering March day in the '80's, where the open grate-fire presented an appearance of comfort, and the clerk was busily occupied in engrossing leases for the coming first of May. In an arm-chair before the cheery cannel-coal blaze sat an agent, a bluff, red-faced man, who wore a pepper-and-salt suit, and shaved his countenance very close indeed.

"Well?" said Mandeville, curtly.

"The old Wakeham house is let," said Mr. Luray, "at twelve hundred dollars for a boarding-house. No repairs."

"That's good news," said the rich man."

"Every house in the Windham Block has gone off at nine hundred like hot cakes," added Luray, complacently. "Very attractive houses, those. I only wish I had a dozen more like 'em. The place on Second square needs repairs; you'll be obliged to have a plumber and carpenter right off."

"See to it, then," said Mandeville, beginning to glance at the pile of unopened letters on his desk a little impatiently.

"And there's the Morand Mansion," added Mr. Luray, "up on the Harlem River—"

"What!" cried Mandeville, sharply. "Isn't that let yet?"

"It's my opinion, sir," said Mr. Luray, slowly, "there's something radically wrong about that there house. Nobody wants it. It's been in the market three successive years and it won't go off, nohow we can fix it."

"But," Mandeville exclaimed, "what do you mean? It isn't haunted?"

"Not to my knowledge, sir," said the agent; "unless the tenants have chosen to get up a ghost for their special edification."

"The tenants are distant relations of my own," said Mr. Mandeville, a little haughtily. "I have not met them for many years, but I have reason to believe they are ladies."

"Perhaps so, sir," said Mr. Luray, dryly. "But it has occurred to my mind, now and again, as things will occur, you know, sir, that perhaps I had better go up there and see about it."

"Not a bad idea," said Mandeville. "I'll go myself."

And he went.

The Morand Mansion was a great antique house of moss-covered gray-stone on the banks of the Harlem river, with borders of yellow daffodils outlining its path like ribbons of gold, and the earliest crocuses blossoming around its doorsteps, while hoary old pear-trees drooped their boughs in the garden, and a superb white-pine tree spread its umbrella of black-green shaddow over the paved court in front.

Mr. Mandeville rang at the door-bell, glancing as he did so at the "To Let," which had become detached from its board, and lay wedged in a tangle of gooseberry bushes. A black-eyed, handsome young elf came to the door, with a mass of gypsy black hair curling down her back, and a faded calico frock, which was nevertheless whole and neat.

"Is this house to let?" Mr. Mandeville politely asked.

"Ye—e—s," unwillingly admitted Miss Natilie Vane, commonly known as "Natty," with a glance at the battered board which lay face downward among the gooseberries. "At least the agent told us so—and a cross old growler he was."

"Could I look at it?" said Mr. Mandeville, insinuatingly.

"It ain't convenient," answered Miss Natty, planting herself within the door in such a manner that he could not possibly obtain an entrance without her permission.

"But the sign says 'to be seen between the hours of twelve and four,'" argued Mr. Mandeville, consulting his chronometer. "And it is now half-past one,"

"I can't help what the sign says," said Natty, belligerently. "It isn't convenient. Mamma is an invalid, and she can't have all creation tramping over the floors above her head."

"But I am not 'all creation,'" said Mr. Mandeville. "And I will endeavor not to 'tramp' any more than I can help."

"It isn't worth while for you to come in," srid Natty, solemnly regarding him. "You won't like the house, anyhow."

"And why not?" he questioned.

"It's moldy," said Natty, sinking her voice to a confidential whisper, "and damp. And the ceiling in the blue-room has fallen, and the paper in the dining-room is all mil-dew. And the neighbors say there's a ghost, but I never saw it."

"Ah!" said Mr. Mandeville. "I thought we should come to it at last. A ghost, eh?"

"Yes," nodded Netty. "Down cellar where the bodies of some Revolutionary soldiers were buried long before any one ever thought of building a house here. They walk there at night and clank their swords. At least German Gretchen, who lived with us once, used to say so. I never heard any noise but the rats. But all the same, it isn't comfortable to have people saying that there's a ghost in the house."

"No; certainly not," acquiesced Mr. Mandeville,

"Besides," added Netty, "the house belongs to a crab."

"A—what?" cried Mandeville.

"A crab," said Natty. "The landlord, you know. He's a cousin of mamma's—nobody knows how many times removed. But I know he must be horridly selfish and miserly. And I rather like the idea of keeping possession of the old Morand Mansion, in spite of him. I daro say he's dancing around the floor of his money vaults now with rage about it. But we had as much right to our half of the old property as he had, no matter what the law said. And we are beggars almost, and he is a rich man."

"Law," said Mr. Mandeville, dryly, "but not equity. That's it, eh?"

"We've got possession of the old house; that's all I know," said the young outlaw. "And we mean to keep it."

"But perhaps," said Mandeville, "he may not be as bad as you think."

"Oh, I'm quite sure of it," said Natty, decisively.

"I suppose," said Mandeville, looking keenly at her, "that you are Natalie?"

She started.

"How did you know?"

"Because," he answered solemnly, "I am—the crab!"

"What!"

"I am William Mandeville," smiling roguishly. "Open the door, Natty, and let me in. I want to see your mother. Don't be frightened, child. I am not angry with you."

Natalie reddened indignantly.

"Frightened!" she repeated. "I never was frightened in my life. Least of all at you. And—don't you think you really are a crab, Mr. William Mandeville?"

"It is very likely," said he, with great calmness, "that I may have appeared like a shellfish of that nature. But I assure you it has been quite unintentional. I have trusted too much to my agent. He told me you were desirous to leave the house!"

"Then," said Natalie, energetically, "he told a wicked, wicked story. Why should we leave it? We had nowhere else to go."

He turned around and held out his hand.

"There has been a misunderstanding all around," said he. "Natty, shall we be friends?"

"With all my heart. I don't believe you can possibly be a crab, after all, and I've been doing you injustice all these years. And I'm sorry for it—so there!"

So Natty took him into the shabby little boudoir, hung with velvet paper in imitation of Venetian tapestry and all streaked with blue mold, where her mother sat cowering over a fire of driftwood, which Natty had gathered for her along the river shore. For they were so poor, so very poor, this mother and her daughter, that even the fire by which they warmed themselves was a matter of grave consideration and contrivance.

Mrs. Vane was pale and pretty as she sat there in the old silk which was one tissue of mends and darns, but she rose with the air of a genuine lady to shake hands with her distant cousin.

"Mrs. Vane," said the young lawyer, with a smile, after he had explained to her the strange manner in which he and Natty had become friends, after such a strange passage of verbal arms, "Natalie has shown me myself in quite a new light. It is a peculiar sensation to see ourselves as others see us. Will you allow me in some measure to right myself in your estimation and my own?"

They had a long council of ways and means there, by the blazing fire of driftwood, that evening—and then they went all over the house, even down to the cellar where the ghost was supposed to do his rattling at the dead of night. And Mr. Mandeville, still with his eyes fixed on Natalie's bright gypsy face, decided that the property needed repairing thoroughly, and invited the widow and her daughter to visit him in New York while the renovation took place.

"My sister will be there to chaperon us," he said, "and I will endeavor to show my little cousin Natty some of the things best worth seeing in our great metropolis."

"Oh," cried Natty, with her great eyes glittering like pools of jet, "how nice that will be! Oh, Cousin Mandeville, I do like you so much!"

"Will she dare to say that one year from today?" he asked himself, with a curious sensation at his heart. For she was so young and pretty—so like a rare-ripe peach with the bloom still on its cheeks."

Upon the next year's first of April, Mr. Luray came to his chief with an anxious face.

"That old Morand Mansion, sir," said he—"I understand it is in perfect order, now, painted and frescoed throughout, with the ground laid out by a landscape gardener. Am I to put it on the list of 'To Lets?'"

"No," said Mandeville, brusquely, "I propose to occupy it myself as a summer residence."

"You, sir!"

"I am to be married next week," said Mr. Mandeville, "to Miss Natalie Vane. And we shall live there for the present."

That was William Mandeville's lovesidyl.—[New York Ledger.

A Hangman's Revenge.

According to the New York World ex-Hangman Berry's book of experiences as a Koko seems to have fallen with some flatness. There is one amusing incident, although its humorous side doesn't seem to have impressed Mr. Berry. Some years ago he was traveling by rail in one of those famous compartments of which we read queer tales from time to time. His three companions in this coop, which seems to be so contrived as to permit of unlimited insult to an unoffending passenger, appeared to be gentlemen, and what is more, appeared to have taken a strong dislike to Mr. Berry. He soon discovered that they had in some way identified him as the public executioner, and they lost no opportunity of expressing in visible and audible and even tangible fashion the contempt and loathing with which they regarded his eyes, hands and particularly his shins. He didn't make an outcry, however. Two years afterwards Mr. Berry went to Carlisle on a professional tour. He was there called on to hang Messrs. Rudge, Martin and Baker, whom he identified at a glance as his fellow travelers and tormentors.

Hindoo Penitence.

The Hindoos care more for the brute than for human creation. An ahir— i. e., cowherd—was carrying a calf and let it drop, breaking the neck of the animal. The brahmins excommunicated him for six months; no member of his family was allowed to shelter or feed him; he had to make a number of pilgrimages in a mendicant's garb, with a rope around his neck and the tail of the calf he had killed on his shoulder. Returning home after six months he had to live in a hut by himself built for the purpose. There he must be purified. A barber shaved the hair off the head and face of the penitent and pared his nails. Another man came and burned the hair and nails and set the temporary hut on fire. After that the malefactor had to bathe in the river until his skin was clean, when he could come out. Even then he was only purified but not yet reinstated in the caste of cowherds. He had first to feast fifty brahmins and 100 of his brother ahirs before he could be received back in the fold.—[Chicago Herald.

Learned Children.

Mrs. Mary E. Burt of Chicago, who has recently returned from Greece, says that the common school children of Athens are taught ancient and modern Greek, French and sometimes English. They have no school "reader" such as afflict American children, but as soon as they are able to read they are put into the classics of their own literature, so that long before they have reached mature years they are familiar with Homer Xenophon, Herodotus, Plutarch and the dramatists. Instead of reciting nursery rhymes they learn the best myths of Hellenic literature. One little girl of an age at which American children are beginning to appreciate the beauties of "hickory, dickory, dock," gave Miss Burt a graphic recital of the labor of Hercules.

THE NEWS EPITOMIZED.

Eastern and Middle States.

SCRANTON, Penn., was deluged by torrents of rain. Hundreds of houses were flooded with water four and five feet deep. Lightning struck in many places, causing slight fires. One man, David Jones, was killed while sitting in his home, near the Continental mine, by a thunderbolt. From every town throughout Lackawana County came reports of great damage done.

THE great New York City grocery firm of Acker, Merrall & Condit has dissolved and William J. Merrall has purchased the interests of John W. Condit and the Acker heirs.

THE anniversary of the Battle of Bunker Hill was celebrated in grand style at Boston, Mass. The day was a general holiday in the city, banks and exchanges being closed and wholesale business suspended. The interest, of course, centers in Charlestown, the scene of the battle. On Bunker Hill at midnight a big bonfire was kindled.

AT a meeting in New York City of Typographical Union No. 6 a resolution was passed repudiating the indorsement of Editor Whitelaw Reid's candidacy for Vice-President, which was recently made by a committee of printers at Minneapolis, Minn.

JOHN ANDERSON, a Swedish leper, escaped from the County Almshouse, Chester, Penn., and ran amuck through the streets. He was recaptured after wounding several people.

A PARTY of five Erie (Penn.) molders, who had been in Buffalo, N. Y., on a frolic, got into a serious altercation at Angola, N. Y., on their way home. They had just been put off a Lake Shore freight. Two of them, Alto Stablem and Groban Allen were killed by a passenger train. The other three, of whom one was Edward Sooper, of Erie, got into an altercation with Lovell A. Newton, the brakesman who had driven the five off the train. One of the molders fatally shot Newton.

THE ninth Suburban run at the Sheepshead Bay (N. Y.) Race Track was won by Marcus Daly's bay colt Montana, by Ban Box, out of Imported Queen, ridden by Garrison; W. J. Spiers's Major Doma, ridden by Lambley, was second, and Brown & Rogers' Lamplighter, ridden by Bergen, was third; the time for mile and a quarter was 2.07 2-5. There were 20,000 people present. The race was worth $18,000 to the winner, $5000 to the second horse, and $2000 to the third.

NO. 2 DAM OF the Mahanoy City (Penn.) Water Company, situated on the mountain side about two miles beyond the western limits of the city, and at a point 500 yards higher than Main street, burst about 10 o'clock at night and flooded the city.

A MOB at Belfast, Me., tarred and feathered Earnest Richards, colored, for improper relations with a white girl.

THE creamery building, 177 by forty-five feet, of the Franklin County (Vt.) Creamery Association has been burned. Fifty tons of butter and 1000 tons of ice were destroyed. It was the largest creamery in the world, producing 17,000 pounds of butter per day and using the milk of 15,000 cows.

HUBBARD WATTS, who "held up" four women near Guilford, Conn., shot himself dead while being pursued by men with dogs.

A CLOUDBURST did great damage in German Valley, Pennsylvania, and one person was drowned.

THE Republican Club held a ratification meeting in Music Hall, New York City; speeches were made by Governor McKinley, Chauncey M. Depew, Whitelaw Reid, Congressman Dalzell and James A. Blanchard.

THE Maine Republican State Convention at Bangor nominated Henry B. Cleaves for Governor, and selected candidates for Presidential electors.

FREDERICK BLAICHER, of Newark, one of the members of the Joel Parker Association, of New Jersey, in attendance on the National Convention at Chicago, Ill., fell from a fourth-story window of the Tremont Hotel to the side walk below. He was found alive, but he died a few moments after.

South and West.

THE wheat harvest is in full blast in southern Kansas. The grain is excellent and the crop magnificent. The report from nearly all points indicates a larger yield than last year.

JOE WALLACE, the murderer of Henry Cole, a peddler, has been hanged near Jasper, Marion County, Tenn. The execution was witnessed by 10,000 people. The gallows was erected fifteen miles from the jail in a valley surrounded by high hills, on which the spectators stood.

JOHN JOHNSON, one of the colored men implicated in the murder of Merchant Colquhoun, was hanged at McComb City, Miss., by a mob of 2000 citizens, both white and colored.

A DISASTROUS cyclone visited Astoria, Fulton County, Iowa, and immense damage was done to property and crops. The funnel shaped cloud tore a wide swath through a forest of large trees.

EMMONS BLAINE, aged thirty-four, eldest son of ex-Secretary James G. Blaine, died suddenly a few days ago at Chicago, Ill. Blood poisoning, the result of inflammation of the bowels, was the cause. Secretary and Mrs. Blaine went from Bar Harbor, Me., to Chicago to attend his funeral.

A FIGHT occurred at Suggstown, Wyoming, between United States soldiers and citizens. Two soldiers of the Ninth Cavalry were killed and one citizen wounded.

LIGHTNING struck the general store of W. H. Ryan, at Parmsleyville, Ky., and two kegs of powder exploded, wounding all the occupants of the room, fifty in number, and several fatally.

THE yacht Caprice capsized off Peche Island, near Detroit, Mich., and Carrie Bechler, aged nineteen; Minnie Mock, aged seventeen, and Henry Pathon, Jr., were drowned.

DR. HENRY MARTYN SCUDDER, the famous physician who stood charged with the murder of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary Dunton, died from the effects of a dose of morphine, apparently self administered in the Chicago (Ill.) jail.

THE NATIONAL GAME.

"MEADOW LANDERS" is the latest for outfielders.

THE Chicagos miss Pfeffer, Louisville's second baseman, very much.

BROUTHERS, of Brooklyn, was the first League batsman to make fifty hits.

SINCE Boyle has been laid up New York's chief weakness has been behind the bat.

RICHARDSON, of Washington, leads all the League second baseman in fielding, with an average of .967.

MURPHY'S wonderful catching has much to do with the remarkable success of the Cincinnati pitchers.

PERHAPS the cause of Rusie, of New York, losing so many games may be attributed to the loss of Buckley. He misses his old catcher.

DUFFY, of the Bostons, says that Sexton, the Brown University pitcher, is the making of a great strategetic twirler. He is second to no college pitcher to-day.

WARD may make errors, but the fact is the Brooklyn Captain is playing a star game. He goes after everything in sight, and wins many games by his great headwork.

THE impossibility of getting new men is bringing gray hairs to the heads of some of the League team managers. The scarceness of players is shown in the way released men catch on again.

THE greatest disappointments in this season's Cleveland team are Burkett and Davies. The Cleveland management did not hesitate to invest a great deal of money to secure good pitching talent. To-day the pitchers are losing the games.

ANSON is quoted as saying that in his opinion Weyhing, who was blacklisted in '79 for crookedness, was the best catcher that ever stood behind the plate. Besides being a fine catcher and great batsman he was original, tricky and wonderfully fertile in resources.

CLARENCE BAYNE, the crack pitcher of the University of Pennsylvania nine, is said to have made a better record on the diamond field than any other college freshman before him. Besides pitching marvelously, he is strong at the bat, is a splendid runner of bases, and makes an excellent coach.

PITCHER WELCH, of the New Yorks, will finish the season with the Troy (N. Y.) team. He has an iguenlad contract which does not expire until the end of the season, but President Day has consented to Mickey's transfer. So Mickey goes back to the city from which New York got him nearly ten years ago.

FIFTY-SECOND CONGRESS.

In the Senate.

117TH DAY.—The President sent in a message recommending retaliation on the Dominion of Canada for her unjust discriminations against American vessels navigating Canadian canals.——Mr. Vest reported adversely from the Commerce Committee the bill directing the Secretary of War to cause the low bridges now crossing the Harlem River to be replaced by permanent bridges with fixed spans at the expense of the owners.

118TH DAY.—The conference report on the Military Academy bill was presented and agreed to——Then the bill for the free coinage of gold and silver was taken up and discussed for the remainder of the day.

119TH DAY.—The Nicaragua Canal was discussed——The Agricultural Appropriation bill was also considered.

In the House.

135TH DAY.—A further conference on the River and Harbor bill was ordered——The remainder of the session was consumed in filibustering over the Sibley Claim bill, without action.

136TH DAY.—The House spent most of the session in discussing the Tinplate bill and then adjourned for three days.

137TH DAY.—The House then went into Committee of the Whole (Mr. Lanham, of Texas, in the chair) on the General Deficiency bill, and the entire session was consumed in the consideration thereof.

DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM.

Declaration of Principles Adopted by the National Convention.

The platform as adopted by the Democratic National Convention at Chicago is as follows:

SECTION 1.—The representatives of the Democratic party of the United States, in National Convention assembled, do reaffirm their allegiance to the principals of the party as formulated by Jefferson and exemplified by the long and illustrious line of his successors in Democratic leadership from Madison to Cleveland. We believe the public welfare demands that these principals be applied in the conduct of the Federal Government through the accession to power of the party that advocates them, and we solemnly declare that the need of a return to these fundamental principles of a free popular government, based on home rule and individual liberty, was never more urgent than now, when the tendency to centralize all power at the Federal capital has become a menace to the reserved rights of the States, that strikes at the very roots of our Government under the Constitution as framed by the fathers of the Republic.

SECTION 2.—We warn the people of our common country, jealous for the preservation of their free institutions, that the policy of Federal control of elections, to which the Republican party has committed itself, is fraught with the gravest dangers, scarcely less momentous than would result from a revolution practically establishing monarchy on the ruins of the Republic. It strikes at the North as well as the South, and injures the colored citizen even more than the white; it means a horde of deputy marshals at every polling place, armed with Federal power; returning boards appointed and controlled by Federal authority; the outrage of the electoral rights of the people in the several States; the subjugation of the colored people to the control of the party in power and the reviving of race antagonisms now happily abated, of the utmost peril to the safety and happiness of all; a measure deliberately and justly described by a leading Republican Senator as "the most infamous bill that ever crossed the threshold of the Senate."

Such a policy, if sanctioned by law, would mean the dominance of a self-perpetuating oligarchy of office holders, and the party first intrusted with its machinery could be dislodged from power only by an appeal to the reserved right of the people to resist oppression which is inherent in all self-governing communities. Two years ago this revolutionary policy was emphatically condemned by the people at the polls; but in contempt of the verdict the Republican party has defiantly declared in its latest authoritative utterance that its success in the coming elections will mean the enactment of the Force bill and the usurpation of despotic control over elections in all the States. Believing that the preservation of Republican government in the United States is dependent upon the defeat of this policy of legislative force and fraud, we invite the support of all citizens who desire to see the Constitution maintained in its integrity, with the laws pursuant thereto, which have given our country a hundred years of unexampled prosperity, and we pledge the Democratic party, if it be intrusted with power, not only to the defeat of the Force bill, but also to relentless opposition to the Republican policy of profligate expenditure which in the short space of two years has squandered an enormous surplus and emptied an overflowing treasury after piling new burdens of taxation upon the already overtaxed labor of the country.

SECTION 3.—We denounce the Republican policy of protection as a fraud on the labor of the great majority of the American people for the benefit of the few. We declare it to be a fundamental principle of the Democratic party that the Federal Government has no constitutional power to impose and collect tariff duties except for the purposes of revenue only, and we demand that the collection of such taxes shall be limited to the necessities of the Government when honestly and economically administered.

SECTION 4.—Trade interchange on the basis of reciprocal advantages to the countries participating is a time-honored doctrine of the Democratic faith, but we denounce the sham reciprocity which juggles with the people's desire for enlarged foreign markets and freer exchanges by pretending to establish closer trade relations for a country whose articles of export are almost exclusively agricultural products with other countries that are also agricultural, while erecting a Custom House barrier of prohibitive tariff taxes against the rich countries of the world that stand ready to take our entire surplus of products and to exchange therefor commodities which are necessaries and comforts of life among our own people.

SECTION 5.—We recognize in the trusts and combinations, which are designed to enable capital to secure more than its just share of the joint products of capital and labor, a natural consequence of the prohibitive taxes which prevent the free competition which is the life of honest trade, but we believe their worse evils can be abated by law, and we demand the rigid enforcement of the laws made to prevent and control them, together with such further legislation in restraint of their abuses as experience may show to be necessary.

SECTION 6.—The Republican party, while professing a policy of reserving the public land for small holdings by actual settlers, has given away the people's heritage till now a few railroad and non-resident aliens, individual and corporate, possess a larger area than that of all our farms between the two seas. The last Democratic administration reversed the improvident and unwise policy of the Republican party touching the public domain, and reclaimed from corporations and syndicates, alien and domestic, and restored to the people nearly one hundred million acres of valuable land to be sacredly held as homesteads for our citizens, and we pledge ourselves to continue this policy until every acre of land so unlawfully held shall be reclaimed and restored to the people.

SECTION 7.—We denounce the Republican legislation known as the Sherman act of 1890 as a cowardly makeshift fraught with possibilities of danger in the future which should make all of its supporters, as well as its author, anxious for its speedy repeal. We hold to the use of both gold and silver as the standard money of the country, and to the coinage of both gold and silver without discrimination against either metal or charge for mintage, but the dollar unit of coinage of both metals must be of equal intrinsic and exchangeable value, or be adjusted through international agreement or by such safeguards of legislation as shall insure the maintenance of the parity of the two metals, and the equal power of every dollar at all times in the markets and in the payment of debts, and we demand that all paper currency shall be kept at par with and redeemable in such coin. We insist upon this policy as especially necessary for the protection of the farmers and laboring classes, the first and most defenceless victims of unstable money and a fluctuating currency.

SECTION 8.—We recommend that the prohibitory ten per cent. tax on State bank issues be repealed.

SECTION 9.—Public office is a public trust. We reaffirm the declaration of the Democratic National Convention of 1876 for the reform of the civil service and we call for the honest enforcement of all laws regulating the same. The nomination of a President, as in the recent Republican conventions, by delegations composed largely of his appointees, holding office at his pleasure, is a scandalous satire upon free popular institutions and a startling illustration of the methods by which a President may gratify his ambition. We denounce a policy under which Federal office-holders usurp control of party conventions in the States, and we pledge the Democratic party to the reform of these and all other abuses which threaten individual liberty and local self-government.

SECTION 10.—The Democratic party is the only party that has ever given the country a foreign policy consistent and vigorous, compelling respect abroad and inspiring confidence at home. While avoiding entangling alliances it has aimed to cultivate friendly relations with other Nations and especially with our neighbors on the American continent whose destiny is closely linked with our own, and we view with alarm the tendency to a policy of irration and bluster, which is liable at any time to confront us with the alternative of humiliation or war. We favor the maintenance of a navy strong enough for all purposes of National defence and to properly maintain the honor and dignity of the country abroad.

SECTION 11.—This country has always been the refuge of the oppressed from every land—exiles for conscience sake—and in the spirit of the founders of our Government we condemn the oppression practised by the Russian Government upon its Lutheran and Jewish subjects, and we call upon our National Government, in the interest of justice and humanity, by all just and proper means, to use its prompt and best efforts to bring about a cessation of these cruel persecutions in the dominions of the Czar and to secure to the oppressed equal rights. We tender our profound and earnest sympathy to those lovers of freedom who are struggling for Home Rule and the great cause of local self-government in Ireland.

SECTION 12.—We heartily approve all legitimate efforts to prevent the United States from being used as the dumping ground for the known criminals and professional paupers of Europe, and we demand the rigid enforcement of the laws against Chinese immigration or the importation of foreign workmen under contract to degrade American labor and lessen its wages, but we condemn and denounce any and all attempts to restrict the immigration of the industrious and worthy of foreign lands.

LYNCHED FOUR.

American Workmen Hang Italians for Murder.

The report of a murder and quadruple lynching has just been received at Seattle, Washington, from the camp of Smith Brothers, railroad contractors, on the line of the new Monte Cristo Road. John A. Nelson had been sent out from Sedro to take charge of a gang of Italian construction hands. The laborers conceived a violent hatred for him, and when he threatened to dock them for "soldiering" four of the Italians attacked him.

Nelson made a desperate resistance, but was overpowered and thrown to the ground. While he was down one of his assailants drove the point of a heavy iron crowbar into his head, killing him instantly.

The Americans at the camp, numbering about sixty, became so enraged over the brutal murder that they seized the four Italians, and, in the presence of 150 of their countrymen, strung them up to a tree.

The place where the lynching occurred is forty miles from the nearest railroad station, on the line of the Everett & Monte Cristo Road, now being built from Hartford, forty-seven miles north of Seattle, to the Monte Cristo Mines.

RETALIATION ON CANADA

Urged by the President in a Message to the Senate.

In a State paper sent to the United States Senate in answer to a resolution of February 24 last, calling for information relative to reciprocity negotiations with Canada, the President sounds the death knell of that project and in effect recommends that Congress proceed to retaliate upon the Dominion for its persistent denial of the rights of American citizens, guaranteed by the treaty of Washington, in connection with the navigation of Canadian canals. The President, in his communication says that his answer to the resolution was delayed at the suggestion of the Secretary of State until the conference, June 3, took place between the Secretary and the British Minister and Mackenzie Bowell and George E. Foster, John W. Foster also appeared on behalf of the Government of the United States, at the request of the Secretary of State.

THE COUNTRY'S HOPE.

The renomination of President Harrison at Minneapolis was demanded by the people. He was the choice of the people from no sentimental standpoint, but from the basis of business and the motive of interest. The Minneapolis Convention was flooded with letters, dispatches and every farm of communication from the great business centers of the nation, from Republicans and Democrats alike, urging the necessity for the renomination of President Harrison, in order that those splendid administrative policies which have, under his direction and execution, crowned the whole country with such unexampled thrift and well-being might be carried to their proper consumation.

The people look to the Republican party as the country's only hope in the war of factions, the distractions of conflicting theories and the wild and wanton efforts of fanatics who would imperil the prosperity of the people for the sake of experimening upon the nation with their own crude and clumsy ecoarmic doctrines.

While the Democrats are beating about, without compass or chart, driven by wild winds and woves, upon a shoreless sea of confusion and chaos, the Republican party has been steering a straight course under the guidance of the north star of duty, blessing every shore that it has touched and every harbor that it has reached.

No wonder that the people have confidence in the policies, purposes and promises of the Republican party! It is a party of few and simple words, but of many and mighty deeds. It has saved the nation in the past from the awful eclipse of anarchy and ruin, and it will in the future more abundantly secure and establish the country in all her interests, industries and institutions.

THE DEMOCRATIC NOMINEES.

As the CAROLINIAN hoped, Grover Cleveland got the nemination at Chicago. Not a strong man intellectually, for a well equipped statesman the fact that he has been selected over men of supposed Presidential caliber is equivalent to admitting that the Democratic party is weak in strong men and badly off for available candidates.

For Vice President Adlia E. Stevenson of Illinois was put on the ticket. This is said to have been the work of the Tammany deleges—to lead down the ticket with an undesirable man, in resentment of the affront put upon them by the nomination of Cleveland.

A very large number of prominent Democrats would cheerfully pay a large sum to British journals if they would consent to make no comments at all on American politics. They are well meaning allies enough, but every time they open their mouths, the Democracy is in danger of being engulfed.

Gov. Holt has commissioned W. B. Rodman, Jr., of Washington, to be Major of the First Battalion of the First Regiment of the North Carolina State Guord, to succeed Mr. W. T. Hollowell, resigned.

Senator Ransom described the situation while at Chicago last week: 'One thing is certain: Cleveland cannot carry North Carolina, and we have to agree upon somebody who can carry New York."

The CAROLINIAN is gratified at the selection Col. H. C. Cowles, of Statesville, as the member of the National Republican Executive Committee from this State. He understands the party's needs.

Congressman Holman says of the Democratic platform: "It is marked by more timidity than anything the Democratic party has done for years and is as weak as a combination of timidity and slush could make it."

How Indian it all was—the Wigwam, and the Mugwump, and the Braves! And what an "Ingun gift" the nomination is!

The Rocky Mountain News, the leading democratic paper of Colorado, bolts the nemination of Cleveland.

Ex-Judge David A. Burnes, of Murfreesboro, died on the 24th inst. His age was 73.

Mr, Cleveland's nomination has been received with great joy in old England.

WHAT HARRISON'S NOMINATION MEANS.

The renomination of President Harrison means many things. It has been received with serene satisfaction by the people, and particularly by the business interests of this country, anxious as they always are for a safe, conservative federal administration. It has been received with entire satisfaction by the Republican party, for it is felt that no mistake has been made.

The nomination of President Harrison means that this is to be a spotless campaign. No scandals have attached to his administration, the personal character of the President is unblemished, and his conscientious regard for his duties and his strong determination to do right are unquestioned.

The nomination means that the Republican party is to have a growing canvass, an aggressive canvass; not one of defense, but of energetic, persistent, determined assault upon its opponents.

President Hartison has been a safe and successful administrator of public affairs. He has had the courage to rise above all petty personal considerations, while seeking the welfare of the country.

The people are able to judge of what President Harrison will be by what he has been, and that means that they are entirely satisfied to trust tue responsibilities of the Chief Executive to him for four years more, rather than to entrust them to a new man, with all the changes, involvements and dangers that such an experiment would involve.

THE PRESIDENT NOTIFIED.

The ceremonies attending the personal notification of President Harrison of his renomination were of the most fitting character. The speaking devolved upon two men who are adepts in a field in which more able men fail than succeed even tolerably well, The remarks of Gov. McKinley outlined the achievements of the Republican Administration and set forth in bold relief the essential features of the issues upon which the Republican party solicits the support of the country. With becoming modesty the President replied to the congratulations. He gives credit to the Republican Congress and the heads of the Departments. Important as has been his part in the accomplishment of the past three years he takes no special credit to himself. There is none of the "my policy" which has been the bonst of some executives, in any of his allusions to his administration. It has been successful because it has been thoroughly and aggressively Republican.

A FEW FACTS.

It is well remembered by the people that it was during the Harrison Administration that the tariff act of 1890 was passed with his approval, including the Reciprocity clause which he strennously advocated; and, too, every intelligent voter must admit that this has placed us far in advance commercially of any point ever before reached. It has opened up trade with South American Republics on a basis advantageous to the United States and given us an entrance with products into San Domingo, placed our part in Aermany and France and Spain, and broken down the prejudicial wall which without reciprocity was created around us.

THE TARIFF PLANK.

No one can fail to understand the exact meaning of the tariff plank in the Republican platform. There is no dodging, no straddling and no attempt at avoiding the issues. By it the Republican party will stand where it has ever stood since the tariff question became a vital one for the American home, for American patriotism, American products American manufactures, American ships, and American controll of the world.

"We stand," said Major McKinley, "for a Protective Tariff, because t represents the American home, the American fireside, the American family, the American girl, the American boy and the highest possibilities of American citizenship." There is the ring of true Americanism in these words. No foreign tendency no Anglomania here.

The Jersey City Town Talk, which was very fond of Blaine, comes out with an editorial broadside for Harrison and this excellent sentiment:

We shouted for Blaine,
And we'd do so again:
Could any one blame us for that?
But we do not feel sore,
And we'll shaut all the more,
Faom under Our Grandfather's Hat.

The great material interests of the country, industrial and agricultural, have been perfectly safe and prospered under the Admidistration of President Harrison.

There was a little strife at the Minneapolis, to be sure, but it was like a memory of sweetness and light compared with the slashing and smiting at Chichago.

Republicans have both "the hat" and the head to fit it.

Chicago named the loser. No Democrat ever beat a Harrison,

The Harrison Administration

Elihu Root.

"The battle of to-day must be fought on the issues of the present. It is to the records of the administration of Benjamin Harrison that we must now point. It represents the best religious and moral element. It has represented the best and highest type of intellectual power in this great and intellectual land. By the side of Bedjamin Harrison's state papers we can place those of any statesman of this country or any other. It has been an administration proclaiming the doctrine of America for Americans against the world. It has maintained the strength, the dignity of the American Republic, the rights of the American people, as against all the world."

Domestic Goods better Than Ever Before.

Dry Goods Economist.

In domestic production there never before were employed as much skill and as great amount of brain power as during the present season. The result is shown in the goods on the market, which in many instances are quite equal to the best of their grade produced from foreign looms. In every line the best assortments are shown, and in nothing is any of them wanting, except in the matter of design in certain lines of fancy goods, which, in consequence of the higher artistic skill of the foreign manufacturer, do not in all cases present that smartness and newness of design and pattern so characteristic in foreign goods. Even in these there is seen a marked advance on those of last season, and taken altogether domestic dress goods are a great credit to American production.

Scrubs.

What is a scrub? The impression prevails among not a few of our people that scrub stock is that with only a slight, if any, admixture of admixture of pedigree blood, and that the greater this admixture the rather the remove from scrubbiness. It was not this view that led one recently to say that we should breed no scrubs and especially to none with long pedigrees. A good pedigree is derivable, but when an animal bears the marks of a scrub its pedigree should only lead to its condemnation as a breeder. It either has degenerated or else bad qualities are well hired in the strain.

The truth is that some breeders have cared more for pedigree or certain points than they have for quality and worth. The farmer and stockman want paying results rather than blue-blooded lienage only. The writer believes in pure bloods—they have the surest power of transmitting to their progeny—but they must have desirable qualities to transmit. The scrub should go and the pedigreed ones first of all. Breed only to animals that posses traits wanted, and then choose first the particular ones that, while possessing these qualities, show a lineage that gives good assurance of power to reproduce themselves.

The Republican Candidate.

Magnetic qualities he lacks,
So his detractors state,
This is the list of their attacks
Upon the candidate.
This imputation he can bear;
He had enough to get him there
In 1888.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

[From our Regular Correspondent.]

WASHINGTON, June 24, 1892.

If the Democrats had submitted the selection of their Presidential candidate to a vote of the Republicans of the country there is no doubt that Mr. Cleveland would have received an overwhelming majority, for the very simple reason that nine out of every ten Republicans consider him the easiest man in the Democratic party to beat. It is not therefore surprising that his nomination by the Chicago Convention should have been received by the Republicans with the liveliest satisfaction and the greatest enthusiasm.

Aside from the few Democrats who held office under him which they blindly and without reason hope to get again, his nomination was like a wet blanket to his party; they know that the convention nominated him, not because he was considered the strongest man, but simply because jealousy and bickerings in the party made him the only man upon whom the delegates could unite. They know also, and some of them do not hesitate to say so, that he is doomed to defeat; that he cannot carry a single doubtful State, and that he stands a good chance to lose several of the Southern States, because the men who look after the counting of the votes in that locality have no desire to see him in the White House again.

Senator Hill will not raise a hand to help Cleveland in New York unless his mind undergoes a great change: He is reported to have spoken in substance, as follows, to a gentleman who tried to get him to promise to carry the State for Cleveland: "Do you take me for a fool; no power on earth can carry New York for Cleveland. Even if I should put forth my best efforts for him I should be charged with being responsible for his defeat, as I was in 1888. As I am to be blamed anyway, I prefer to be blamed for doing nothing. The delegates to the convention nominated him with their eyes wide open; now let them elect him, if they can.

Governor Bulkley, of Connecticut, was in Washington this week. Speaking of the political outlook in his State, he said: "Connecticut is all right and will cast her electoral vote for Harrison and Reid. This is the nature of prophecy, but it's as true as if the ballots had been taken.

Senator Davis, of Minnesota, has introduced a resolution authorizing the President to retaliate upon Canadian vessels using American water ways, if the discrimination against the American vessel using Canadian water ways, mentioned in his communication sent to the Senate this week, shall be continued.

Senator Tracy and a party of prominent officials will go to Norfolk to witness the launching of the battleship Texas on the 28th inst. The President will hardly be able to go, owing to the pressure of public business.

It is really amusing to hear Democrats who are known to dislike Cleveland worse than an unnamable individual does holy water, pretend that they are satisfied with his nomination.

Malarial fever and its effects quickly give way to Simmons Liver Regulator.

Conspicuous in interest and timeliness among the magazine articles of the month is the comprehensive paper upon "Pope Leo XIII," by Richard Kimball, LL. D., which opens the July number of Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly. Dr. Kimball sketches clearly the situation of Italy and the Church at the time Leo XIII. became Pope; then proceeds with a masterly review of the ecclesiastical and diplomatic career of the venerable Sovereign Pontiff. Accompanying this paper is an admirable reproduction of the new portrait of the Pope, by Chartran. Another notable contribution is "Famine stricken Russia, describing and illustrating contemporary scenes in the Volga provinces. Other interesting articles, with copious pictorial embellishment, are: "Lady Riders," "National Holidays," "Exploring Talsmanca," "How the Birds Came to the Green Mountains," "Abdul-Hamid II., the Sultan of Turkey," and "Etching with Fire"—a thorough account of the unique art of which Mr. J. William Fosdick is the foremost exponent. There are half a dozen excellent short stories; and "A Terrible Case," is brought to a dramatic conclusion.

Incidents at The Chicago Convention.

By a Reporter.

This convention may very well be styled gavel-gabble convention, for there has been an immensity of talk and no chairman ever applied gavel more industriously or with less apparent effect than the presiding officer on this occasion. No earthly attention was paid to him, and it was not until the Rev. Tom Green of Cedar Rapids stepped to the front and in a loud, decisive voice said: "Will the convention come to order in order that I may deliver the opening prayer," that quiet was had. They looked at him a few moments in utter amazement.

Again he said in an imperative tone of voice: "Take your seats, I am about to pray," whereupon everybody sat down and stared at the tall, slender figure, the clean cut face bearded like a pard, and he proceeded in the stereotyped manner to talk to the Creator in most familiar phrase, informing Him of all variety of matters with which He presumably was previously acquainted, until he was interrupted by applause.

I wish you could have seen Al Sol this morning the great Wigwam in its glory. Hundreds of balloons were raised, that the incoming rain might be warded off. Thousands of seats were soaked. Thousands of men were drenched. Scores of thousands of curses rolled around with echoing ferocity, and it was no love feast I assure you. Although there was an unquestioned fair opposition to the nomination of Grover Cleveland, although many men in many States honestly preferred some other candidate, there was no virulent, spiteful, malicious opposition, save that which came from the Tiger and its cubs.

SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR

SYMPTOMS OF LIVER DISEASE:

Loss of appetite; bad breath; bad taste in the mouth; tongue coated; pain under the shoulder-blade, in the back or side—often mistaken for rheumatism; sour stomach with flatulency and water-brash; indigestion; bowels lax and costive by turns; headache, with dull, heavy sensation; restlessness, with sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done; dizziness; fever; blotches on the skin; piles; tired feeling; yellow appearance of the skin and eyes; dizziness, etc. You will not always have all of these indications of Liver Complaint. For that has been used in all climates for many years, and has never been known to fail to relieve, take Simmons Liver Regulator

A Safe, Reliable Remedy

AN EFFECTUAL SPECIFIC FOR

Malaria, Bowel Complaint, Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Constipation, Biliousness, Jaundice, Mental Depression, Colic.

A PHYSICIAN'S OPINION

I have been prescribing medicine for twenty years, but for the relief and cure of the above diseases, I do not hesitate to say that Simmons Liver Regulator is the best medicine I have ever used. It acts promptly and effectually, move the bowels freely, at the same time and invigorates the digestive and assimilative powers of the system.

The North Carolinian.

Wednesday, June 29, 1892.

☞ What fine growing weather.

☞ The corn crop never looked better.

☞ Remember to-morrow is the last day for listing taxes.

☞ Some of our truckers have not been realizing much on potatoes.

☞ The Democratic Executive Committee has called the Congressional Convention for this District to meet at Edenton on the 9th of August.

☞ The vote of the North Carolina delegation at Chicago stood,—8½ for Cleveland, 16½ for Stevenson, 1 for Boies and 1 for Morrison.

☞ Mr. Thomas Jones, in charge of the steam, grist, saw and planing mill at South Mills, got caught in the planer on the 16th, inst. and was dangerously cut in the thigh.

☞ Rev. Andrew Cartwright A. M. E. Zion Bishop of Africa, who has been spending several months here at his old home, left on Monday for his field of work, where he has been in active service for the past sixteen years. His headquarters is Brewersville, Siberia, West Africa.

☞ Prof. Foster, the weather forecaster says; "From about the 20th, of June until the 25th, of August the excess of heat above the average of the season will be great. The first half of August will be much warmer than the last half of July." During the past six months the CAROLINIAN has been closely watching his reports and has found them generally accurate.

☞ At the regular meeting of Eureka Lodge, No. 17, A. F. & A. M. the election of officers for the ensuing Masonic year resulted as follows, W. W. Griggs, W. M.; J. Y. Old, S. W.; G. W. Brothers, J. W.; T. R. Mann, Treasurer, and D. Bradford Secretary. The installation ceremonies will take place on Tuesday next at the Lodge room, after which there will be a banquet at the Albemarle.

☞ Dr. A. B. Jamieson, President of the Sixth Pennsylvania Reserve Association, informs the CAROLINIAN that the ninth annual Reunion will be held at Washington City on September 21st, and that the Headquarters will be at 1333 E. St. N. W. Every survivor of the Regiment is urged to report. There are several in this locality.

☞ The rapid and healthy growth of the University during the past year is one of the best signs of continued progress. The institution is taking rank with the best in the country. Young men who desire to fit themselves for useful careers in life, should write to President Winston at Chapel Hill. For full information, see ad.

☞ It is with feelings of profound sadness that we are called upon to announce the death of our very much esteemed townsman Trim S. White, which sorrowful event occurred at his residence on Main street Yesterday morning. He had been ill only a few days. He was a public spirited citizen and a worthy man, and his loss will be felt in this community. His age was 45 years. The CAROLINIAN feels deep sympathy for the bereaved family in their affliction.

☞ The New York Press of Saturday published interviews with several Southern delegates at Chicago, and among them was Hon. T. G. Skinner of this District, who is reported as saying:

"Mr Cleveland will accomplish what no other Presidential candidate has ever done before. He will break the solid South, for I expect, between the Republicans and the Farmers' Alliance, we will lose the Carolinas and the Virginias. However, the loss of those States may be a blessing in disguise, for I think the best thing that could happen to our party, wo'd be a breaking up of the solid South, and a gain in the North and Northwest."

☞ Now that summer is here, it is well to call attention to the value of lime-water. This is a simple remedy for many summer evils of the household, and is easily prepared; but it is often forgotten. A teaspoonful of lime-water added to a glass of milk corrects the tendency which milk has to congulate in the stomach, forming a hard, indigestable mass. For this reason it is frequently ordered by physicians to be added to the nursing bottle of children in summer. To prepare it, place a layer of unslacked lime in a wide-mouthed jar and fill it with pure, cold water. The druggist uses filtered water for this purpose. Lime makes what the chemist calls a saturated solution in water; and, therefore, there is no danger of putting too much lime in the water. The water will take up only so much lime. When the water has stood a few hours it will have absorbed all the lime it is capable of receiving. It may then be drained off and more water added til the lime is absorbed. If you are inclined to acidity of the stomach in the summer, it is a good plan to add a little lime-water to the water that you drink.

☞ The North Carolina delegates to Chicago were not "in it!"

☞ Corn at Norfolk 57 cents; at Elizabeth City 53 cents.

—Ice Cream Freezers, all sizes at Robinson Co's

☞ The constant study of every farmer should be to lower the cost of production.

☞ The Republican party is happy, and the Democratic party would like to be.

☞ To polish kitchen stoves nicely, mix a little bearbonate of soda with brick dust and rub them together

☞ When some men say, "come let us reason together," they imagine they are Solomons and want the others to come their way.

—The New Steamer for Nags Head has arrived, but the new Bathing suits shipped to Fowler & Co., arrived one week before the Steamer, Prices 75c. $1.25 and $2.50 per suit.

☞ Persistency is the road to success. The only known exception to this rule is the case of a hen setting on a china egg.

— A newly repaired Store now occupied by S. Y. Old & Son for rent or lease, apply to Robinson & Co.

☞ When the plodder arrives at his goal he thoroughly knows the road he has passed over, but he does not know much of anything else.

—HALF PRICE! Ladies $1 lace serge shoes at 50c. and Ladies' $1.50 and $1.75 Button Fox Serge shoes at 75c. at Fowler & Cos.

☞ The Republican party from the days of Lincoln down to Harrison has always been the friend of labor—of the horny handed and the brow that sweats from toil.

—WANTED. 20,000 ladies to look at the large assortment of white and black summer dress goods at Fowler & Co's New styles, reasonable prices.

☞ That was a sensible and suggestive remark of the man who said what he liked to see most growing, on a farm was a family of happy healthy children,

☞ The CAROLINIAN, being a newspaper, gives, this week, a full synopsis of the Chicago Convention, also the platform. Preserve the latter, as it will be referred to and commented on during the campaign.

☞ The nomination of Cleveland is not at all satisfactory to the Democrats of this section. There is not a particle of enthusiasm. On the other hand it suits the Republicans as he was the man they wanted nominated at Chicago.

☞ There have been comparatively very few "proposals" this "leap year" Women do not hesitate to say that, with the growing extravagenee of the men in mind, they do not feel justified in undertaking the support of a husband.

—California Peaches, Apricots, white and black Cherries, Green Gage & Honey, French Soups, French Peas, Imported Pickles, Roast Turkey, Roast Chicken. Lunch Tongue, Chipped Beef, Potted Meats, &c, at Robinson & Co

☞ The number of farmers in this country who are getting out of the old ruts is on the increase. New and progressive ideas are being adopted and their operations are being conducted more on the intensive system. And these are making farming pay.

—No. 1 Timothy and Clover Hay at Robinson & Co.

☞ A visitor to the Chicago Convention says it sounded a little odd to hear one of the reverend gentlemen talk to the Creator of the Universe about "the spoils of office" and to hear the boys cheer and applaud when the "Amen" came. He says he never witnessed such an utter disregard of order, decency and propriety; that the reeling of delegates with distilled enthusiasm, the interruption of speakers, the howls of contesting factions, and the almost blasphemous indifference to the dictates of religious feeling—all contributed to make the Convention the most remarkable of its kind ever held.

——There are about 10,000 peoplein Pasquotank county, and if every one was to buy a pair of shoes the same day at Fowler & Co's store, there would still be some left for the oher counties.

LOCAL MENTION

The thermometer ranges high up now.—There is promise that the Electric lights will soon be on.—Economy is as commendable as avarice isn't.—You can't build a reputation on a foundation of self confidence only.—When the wires brought the news of Cleveland's nomination the Democrats hereabout looked sick and disgusted.—For "cold comfort" Ice is taken now.—Said a First Ward man. "There is one thing about grandfathers hat, it has no bricks in it." "Aye," and replied another, "the hat band encircles the Republic."—The Versifier states the following fact to reflect upon:

In enterprises great, you'll find,
Here, there and everywhere,
The "hustlers" often left behind,
While the quiet man gets there.

—Some are getting ready for the seaside while others for the mountains.—The new Nags Head Steamer "Clarence" arrived here on Thursday and is now on the line, She is liased to carry 200 passengers.—Taffy is called "candied" opinion.—How many people are there who are very much better than their neighbors?—Superintendent Barnes is pushing forward the good work on the streets.—Additions to the CAROLINIAN local subscription list continuously coming in. The reading public appreciate a live and progressive newspaper.—Keep your temper. It may help to keep you cool!—"So Harrison is going to run again," asked a Third Ward Democrat of a Republican. "Well, he is nominated, but I don't think it will be necessary for him to run," was the reply. "Why not?" "He is going to have a walk-over."—This is what the local Rhymer has to say about a certain "convert:"

He lives uprightly now, no doubt,
But this great fault has he;
It is his pride to boast about
How bad he used to be.

—The lots in "Fairville" (late Elizabeth City Fair Grounds) are now all disposed of and a number of the owners will soon commence improvements.—"Skeeters" is the name of a new farce-comedy. This seems to call for blood.—Puns are best enjoyed by the man to whom the sound of words is more than their sense.—Several new manufacturing industries here are on the tapis.—Position with many thoughtless people is merely a soft place to sit down.—The devil can sometimes be very well behaved when he is working for a big price.—Fireworks are like lemonades. It is the sticks in them that make them dangerous.—The feelings of the Democrats in this section is thus expressed:

If old Grover we have got to swaller,
We are not a goin' for him to holler,

—The frame of Mr. Aydlett's new house is up.—There will be no special demonstration here on the Fourth. A number of our people expect to go to Edenton.—Waters & Sons are doing an immense business at their Bottling Works.—Isn't it about time the Fair question was being agitated, or has it been abandoned?—Democratic enthusiasm was never at so low an ebb in this town.—Because of the gale the "Clarence" did not go to Nags Head on Saturday evening. It was a disappointment.—Before you too harshly criticise the "other fellow;" just imagine yourself in his place.—The majority of the Anti-Cleveland Democrats one meets now, and they comprise about all of them, look as if they had been chewing "sour apples," and the sour is still with them.—Fred H Ziegler returned from Morehead City on Saturday.—The dedication ceremonies at the Presbyterian Church on Sunday were interesting. The sermon was delivered by Rev. Dr. Lacy of Norfolk, and it was an able and appropriate one.—Mr. Lane Simons, of this Office, continues quite sick.—Rev. C. A. G. Thomas, pastor of the Baptist Church, left on Monday for a three weeks visit at Leachville, this State. His pulpit will be occupied by Rev. Paul Spence.—If you want get out of the wet, "jine" the Republican party now and be on the winning side.—The steamer Daniel W. Layden is on Pallin's Ways for repairs.—Ripe tomatoes in market.—Mrs. N. Underwood, we are sorry to learn, is on the sick list.—Mr. John B. E. Culpepper left yesterday on a trip to Norfolk, combining pleasure with business.—Our townsman, Fred. H. Zeigler, was elected Vice President of the North Carolina Undertakers' Association at the annual meeting at Morehead last week. A merited honor and the CAROLINIAN extends congratulations.—Mr. Cornelius R. Trueblood, one of our older citizens, died on Monday, aged 75 years.—The repairs on the United States Revenue Marine Cutter "Alert," Lieut Failing, being finished, has been discharged from Pallin's Shipyard, and will soon be ready for service again.—Miss Beaulah Fullmer is visiting friends at Norfolk.—Plenty of rain.—Cashier Graham, of the National Bank, is convalescing.—Mr Edward Kellogg, editor of the Philadelphia Underwriter, is visiting Mr. Jno. F. Engle, at Riverside—Because of the rain, but few went from here to see the launching of the new battle ship "Texas," at the Navy Yard yesterday,—Mr. T. C. Jones, at Fowler & Co's, left on the "Neuse" last evening on a visit to Morehead City.—Prof. Eason, of the Academy, left yesterday on a visit home.—Mr. William H Zoeller, of Tarboro, is visiting friends and acquaintences here.—The Improvement Society of the Methodist Church have an Excursion to Nags Head to-day.—A good Piano for sale, Inquire at this Office.—The remains of Mr. Trim S. White, whose death is announced in another column, will be taken to Hertford to-day for burial.

——Fowler & Co mean business ALL THE TIME and propose to merit your patronage.

The third annual session of the Southern Assembly and School of Methods of the Women's Christian Temperance Union will open on Thursday, June 30th, 1892, at Waynesville.

Raleigh, N. C, June 24.—State Treasurer Bain announces that $11,300,000 of the old State bonds have been funded under the funding act, which expires by limitation on July 1, when funding operations cease. $1,300,000 remain unfunded.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

In no event can the growth of large fortunes be laid to the charge of the protective policy. Protection has proved a distributor of great sums of money, not an agency for amassing it in the hands of a few. The records of our savings banks and building associations can be appealed to in support of this statement. The benefit of protection goes first and last to the men who earn their bread in the sweat of their faces.—James G. Blaine.

Strength and Health.

LATER NEWS.

FIRE at Atlantic City, N. J., destroyed property along the board walk valued at $150,000.

IT is now thought that the amount of money taken by Cashier Dann, of the National Savings Bank of Buffalo, N. Y., will reach $100,000. He admits it is $75,000.

WARNING has been given the State officials and men in Wyoming who have been prominent against the rustlers since the cattle troubles opened that their lives are in danger.

A GREAT gold rush has set in to the new mining camp in Mohave County, Arizona. Mining men estimate the amount of ore on the surface worth not less than $1,000,000.

EDWIN J. RYAN, a clerk in the United States Express Company, fled from Washington, taking with him three packages of new bank notes amounting in all to about $50,000.

WHITELAW REID, Republican nominee for Vice-President, took luncheon with the President at the White House and the two remained together for some time discussing the political situation.

THE rebellion among the Urgaghan Hazaras against the Ameer of Afghanistan is assuming formidable proportions. Two hundred and fifty of the 5000 regular troops and 1200 of the 5000 irregulars sent against the rebels have been killed.

THE PRESIDENT NOTIFIED.

He Formally Accepts the Minneapolis Nomination.

President Harrison has been formally notified of his nomination at Minneapolis. The ceremony took place in the East Room of the White House, Washington, in the presence of a large company of distinguished Republicans.

Among those present were Senators Sherman, Hawley, Proctor, Platt, Aldrich, Felton, Casey and Sawyer, Representatives Dalzell, Burrows, O'Donnell and Payne; Justice Harlan, of the Supreme Court; Assistant Postmaster-General Whitfield, Frederick Douglass and Dr. Hamlin, the President's pastor. There were also many ladies of high social standing present, including a party chaperoned by Mrs. Logan.

It was about 1 o'clock when the committee, walking by twos, with Governor McKinley, of Ohio, at the head, filed into the White House grounds.

Entering the last room the committee formed into a horseshoe, the points resting against the folding doors opening into the main hall. Governor McKinley took position about the centre of the figure, facing the door through which the President would enter.

Presently the President appeared at the far end of the long hall, accompanied by the members of his Cabinet. The President wore a dark suit, with the bronze button of the Loyal Legion in the lapel of his Prince Albert coat. He was pale and, as always, composed. As he entered the room he bowed low to the company.

His appearance was the signal for loud hand-clapping, in the midst of which Governor McKinley advanced and grasped the President's extended hand. Then, turning to the manuscript in his hand, he read his formal notification speech.

Frequent applause punctuated the address, and the hand-clapping at the close was loud and long continued.

The President then adjusted his glasses and in a clear voice, which filled the room, read his reply and acceptance.

After the delegation had taken luncheon Harry H. Smith presented to President Harrison the "working gavel" used by the presiding officer of the Minneapolis Convention. Then the President and the committee stood on the White House portico and were photographed.

Mr. Reid Also Notified.

The committee which was appointed by the Republican National Convention to inform Whitelaw Reid of his nomination for Vice-President performed that duty at Mr. Reid's residence, Westchester County, N. Y., where the members of the committee went in a body to do the work which had been entrusted to them. United States Senator Dubois, of Idaho, made a brief speech on behalf of the committee in presenting the nomination to Mr. Reid, and to the Senator's words the Republican candidate for Vice-President made a short response. Senator Dubois's speech was loudly applauded, especially that part of it in which he referred to Mr. Reid's services to the American farmer in securing the admission of the product of the American farm to France. The various points in Mr. Reid's reply were also received with applause.

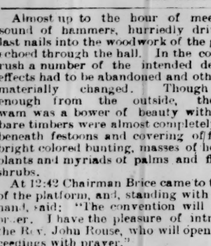
CLEVELAND CHOSEN.

The Ex-President Nominated on the First Ballot at Chicago.

Details of the Proceedings of the National Convention.

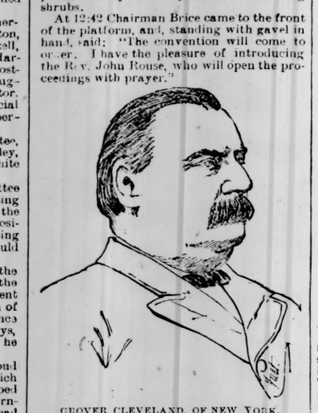
The second Democratic National Convention to meet in Chicago, Ill., began its session with the same vigor and intensity of feeling shown in the earlier contest, which resulted in Mr. Cleveland's first nomination for the Presidency eight years ago. The vast hall in which the convention was held—that huge, unpainted, wooden, boxlike wigwam down on the lake front—began to gather in the flower of the National Democracy soon after the hand on the big clock over the Chairman's platform had ticked past 11.



THE DEMOCRATIC WIGWAM AT CHICAGO.

Almost up to the hour of meeting the sound of hammers, hurriedly driving the last nails into the woodwork of the galleries, echoed through the hall. In the concluding rush a number of the intended decorative effects had to be abandoned and others were materially changed. Though ugly enough from the outside, the Wigwam was a bower of beauty within. Its bare timbers were almost completely hidden beneath festoons and covering of flags and bright colored bunting, masses of hot-house plants and myriads of palms and flowering shrubs.

At 12:42 Chairman Brice came to the front of the platform, and, standing with gavel in hand, said: "The convention will come to order. I have the pleasure of introducing the Rev. John Rouse, who will open the proceedings with prayer."



GROVER CLEVELAND, OF NEW YORK.

The Rev. John Rouse was a smooth faced long haired, young man, dressed in the canonicals of the Episcopal Church. He looked over the assemblage for a moment, and, spreading his hands, he said: "Order." Then, folding his hands, he began his prayer.

At its conclusion Chairman Brice announced that by direction of the National Committee the Chair presented to the convention as its temporary officers the gentlemen named in the list, which he handed to the Secretary, who read it as follows:

The Hon. W. C. Owens, of Kentucky, Temporary Chairman; Secretary, S. P. Sheerin, of Indiana; Assistant Secretaries, W. H. Doyle, of Pennsylvania; H. Shepard, of Virginia; C. Tilley, of Missouri; L. A. Rowley, of Michigan; R. E. Wilson, of Mississippi; C. D. Freest, of New York, and J. C. Swayen, of Illinois; Principal Reading Clerk, the Hon. Nicholas M. Bell; Sergeant-at-Arms, Richard J. Bright, of Indiana; Official Stenographer, Edward Dickinson, of New York.

ISAAC P. GRAY, OF INDIANA.

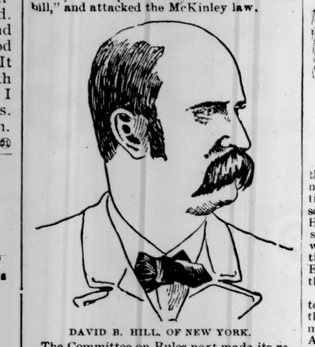
The list was adopted without opposition, and then a committee escorted Mr. Owens to the platform. Mr. Owens made a short address, and then upon motion of General Bragg, of Wisconsin, the rules of the last Democratic Convention were temporarily adopted. The following resolution was introduced and adopted with great applause:

The Convention then adjourned to 11 o'clock A. M., on the following day.

Second Day's Proceedings.

Temporary Chairman Owens called the morning session to order at 11:32, and Rev. Alfred Henry, of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Chicago, delivered a prayer. Senator Palmer made a long speech, which was enthusiastically received, after which the Committee on Credentials made its report, giving Arizona and New Mexico six delegates each.

The report of the Committee on Permanent Organization was then made and adopted. It made William L. Wilson, of West Virginia, Permanent Chairman. Mr. Wilson was escorted to the platform by Don M. Dickinson, J. F. Duncombe, John R. Fellows, Joseph C. Richardson and M. L. Clardy. His speech denounced the "Force bill," and attacked the McKinley law.



DAVID B. HILL, OF NEW YORK.

The Committee on Rules next made its report, in which it sustained the unit rule. This rule Cleveland's opponents had attempted to set aside.

Mr. Phelps presented a gavel to Chairman Wilson, the members of the National Committee were named and ex-Governor Campbell, of Ohio, made a short speech. The Committee on Platform not being ready to report the convention, at 1:43, took a recess to 5 o'clock.

When the convention reassembled at five o'clock there was a dense mass of parboiled humanity beneath its wooden roof. As far as the eye could see every available chair was taken, and there must have been several hundred more than 20,000 Democrats laughing and sweating, the bulk of them in their shirt sleeves and all of them ready for a night of excitement and hilarity.

It was 5:30 when Chairman Wilson rapped the meeting to order with the Missouri zinc gavel and introduced the Rev. Thomas Green, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, who sent up to heaven an eloquent prayer.

After a tantalizing delay of an hour waiting for the Platform Committee a motion to adjourn was voted down. The delegates wanted to get at the real business as speedily as possible.

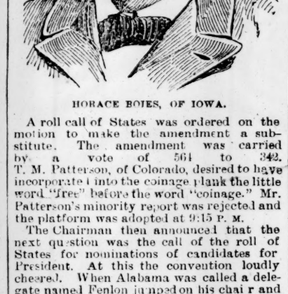
At 6:30 P. M. the Committee on Resolutions entered the hall. Colonel Charles M. Jones, of Missouri, made the report of the committee. He offered the platform, which was read in a strong, clear voice by ex-Secretary Vilas.

Cleveland's name came in near the opening, and its mention evoked a volume of applause that continued just eighteen minutes. It was an unearthly roar such as few men have ever heard and one that is not likely to be heard by the average man twice in a lifetime.

Michigan went wild and Don Dickinson waved his Cleveland banner. Men jumped up in their chairs, beating the air with their arms, hats and handkerchiefs, and the ladies performed their full part in keeping up the excitement. The big brass band joined in the turmoil, but at the distance of a few yards it was impossible to distinguish a note that was played.

In all this tumult the New York delegates kept their seats as silent and unmoved as statues. When quiet was finally restored, Mr. Vilas was permitted to continue the reading of the platform without serious interference.

Chairman Jones, of the committee, moved the adoption of the platform, and on this moved the previous question. Delegate Neil, of Ohio, who was a member of the committee, offered an amendment to the tariff plank of the platform. Delegate Neal made a speech in support of his amendment. Henry Watterson, of Kentucky, took the platform and spoke for the amendment. Ex-Secretary Vilas referred to the amendment as unnecessary and vicious. Colonel Jones ended the discussion by accepting the amendment.



HORACE BOIES, OF IOWA.

A roll call of States was ordered on the motion to make the amendment a substitute. The amendment was carried by a vote of 564 to 342. T. M. Patterson, of Colorado, desired to have incorporated into the coinage plank the little word "free" before the word "coinage." Mr. Patterson's minority report was rejected and the platform was adopted at 9:15 P. M.

The Chairman then announced that the next question was the call of the roll of States for nominations of candidates for President. At this the convention loudly cheered. When Alabama was called a delegate named Fenlon jumped on his chair and moved an adjournment, but without heeding the motion the Secretary proceeded with the call.

WILLIAM C. WHITNEY, OF NEW YORK.

Arkansas yielded her place to New Jersey, and Governor Leon Abbett rose to place the name of Grover Cleveland before the convention. When Governor Abbett named Cleveland the hurrah of an hour before was renewed. The delegates sprang to their feet, many of them mounted chairs, hats were thrown into the air, and the noise of the cheering was deafening. Michigan's banner waved aloft again.

When Governor Abbett came to the review of the modern heroes of Democracy each was cheered from Russell to Boies, but when David B. Hill's name was mentioned Tammany and the New York delegation led a demonstration second only to that which the Cleveland men had made. Just behind the Chairman Dr. Mary Walker stood, almost alone, waving a white handkerchief in the face of the convention. After eight minutes of noise the Chairman tried to rap the convention to order, but some one brought in some lithographed pictures of Mr. Hill and held them aloft. General Sickles stuck one on the end of his crutch and waved it above his head. The demonstration had continued seventeen minutes when Ed. Murphy waved the New Yorkers to their seats.

A minute later the whole convention came to its feet to stare at a spot in the crowd at the north end of the hall where two policemen were bending over a prostrate form. A woman had fainted. She was carried out and then, with partial order restored, Governor Abbett went on. Governor Abbett was permitted to conclude his speech at 10:12 P. M. A renewed outbreak of cheers took place as he sat down. The Michigan delegation hoisted the Cleveland banner again, and ten minutes were given to uproar, the band assisting, while occasional peals of thunder reverberated above the din. The rain began to drip in on the Chairman's desk, and also began to pour in on the ladies sitting at his right, and umbrellas were put up for protection. The ARTHUR P. GORMAN, OF MARYLAND.

Chairman stood his ground, but was perceptibly soaking. An umbrella was raised over his head, and he took shelter under it. The Secretary vainly endeavored to resume the roll call. The lightning meanwhile was flashing vividly, and the torrents of rain forcing their way through the roof increased in volume.

Colorado being reached, yielded to the State of New York. W. C. De Witt, of Brooklyn, made his way up the aisle and nominated Senator Hill. After Mr. De Witt had finished his speech nominating Senator Hill Colonel John H. Fellows seconded the nomination. The roll call was then proceeded with in regular order.

Connecticut seconded Grover Cleveland. No other nominations or seconds were offered until Illinois was reached. A. W. Green seconded Cleveland's nomination for that State.

Indiana, by William E. English, seconded Cleveland. Iowa was the next State, and Hon. W. E. Duncombe, of Fort Dodge, nominated Horace Boies in a strong speech. At two minutes after midnight he took the platform to nominate Iowa's Governor. He finished at 12:18 and the applause which greeted the nomination was as boisterous and prolonged as the name of Cleveland had elicited. The entire New York delegation joined in the demonstration for Boies, led by Governor Flower.

The Kentucky delegation split on the roll call, Henry Watterson seconding Boies and Hon. J. A. McKenzie speaking for Cleveland. Louisiana seconded Boies. Massachusetts, by Patrick Collins, spoke for Cleveland.

WILLIAM L. WILSON, WEST VIRGINIA.

Minnesota seconded Cleveland. So did Missouri. Montana seconded Boies. New York asked to be passed.

Pennsylvania seconded Cleveland. South Carolina said it wanted Boies. South Dakota also swung into the Boies column.

Tennessee seconded Cleveland. Texas was a unit for Cleveland. Senator Daniel, of Virginia, seconded Hill.

Bourke Cockran then opposed the nomination of Cleveland in a speech of an hour's duration, made just before the roll call, but promised the support of New York to the nominee. A vote was ordered at nearly three o'clock A. M. The roll of States was called without confusion until Arizona was reached, when it was evident that Cleveland would be the candidate.

WILLIAM R. MORRISON, OF ILLINOIS.

Then there was great confusion in the hall, but the roll was concluded to the end When Alaska was reached his nomination was made certain.

Ohio then moved that the rules be suspended and Cleveland be made the nominee by acclamation. Daniel, of Virginia, seconded the motion. It was carried.

On motion of Dickinson, of Michigan, the convention then adjourned until two P. M. The vote by States was as follows:

Life of Grover Cleveland.

Grover Cleveland was fifty-five years old on March 18 last. His father was a Presbyterian minister, and he was born in the parsonage at Caldwell, N. J. When he was four years old his father accepted a call to Fayetteville, N. Y., where the son went to school. Afterward his father moved to Clinton. In his seventeenth year the son became clerk and assistant teacher in the New York Institution for the Blind in New York City. In 1855 he went to Black Rock, now a part of Buffalo, and aided his uncle, Lewis F. Allen, in the compilation of a volume of the "American Herd Book." He afterward helped prepare other volumes of the same work. In August, 1855, he became a clerk in the law office of Rogers, Bowen & Rogers. Four years later he was admitted to the Bar. On January 1, 1863 he was appointed Assistant District Attorney of Erie County, New York, and he held the office three years.

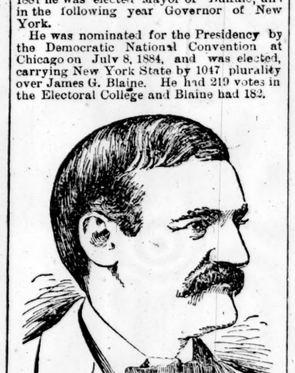
In 1869 Mr. Cleveland became a partner in the law firm of Lanning, Cleveland & Folsom, and continued the practice of law until 1870, when he was elected Sheriff of Erie County. At the expiration of his three years' term he formed the law firm of Bass, Cleveland & Bissell. In the fall of 1881 he was elected Mayor of Buffalo, and in the following year Governor of New York.

He was nominated for the Presidency by the Democratic National Convention at Chicago on July 8, 1884, and was elected, carrying New York State by 1047 plurality over James G. Blaine. He had 219 votes in the Electoral College and Blaine had 182.



ROBERT E. PATTISON, OF PENNSYLVANIA.

On the 21 of June, 1886, Mr. Cleveland married Frances Folsom, daughter of his old Buffalo law partner, in the Blue Room at the White House. He has a daughter, Ruth, born in New York City, Saturday, October 3, 1891.

The Democratic National Convention at St. Louis in 1888 renominated Mr. Cleveland by acclamation. Harrison beat him, getting 233 votes in the Electoral College to 168 for Cleveland.

Since March 4, 1889, Mr. Cleveland has practiced law in New York City.

THE GRIP IN DAHOMEY.

Hanging a Woman to Make the Disease Disappear.

The grip has at last reached Dahomey, Africa, and the people are suffering severely from the disease. It is believed in that country that disease is always the result of the wicked machinations of some bad man, and King Behanzin has been busy looking around for the guilty person who is afflicting so many of his subjects with this new disease. His fetich men told him a few days before the last vessel sailed that a poor woman in one of the towns was a witch, and the cause of all the trouble. The King at once condemned her to death. His sentence was immediately carried out. Her body was suspended from a tree, where it could be seen by all the people, and the fetich men declare that the disease will now rapidly disappear.

ACCIDENT ON A CRUISER.

The Deputy de Lome's Boiler Blows Out and Injures Many.

While the new French cruiser Deputy de Lome, 6300 tons, was trying her machinery at Brest, France, the end of one of the boilers was blown out. Men lay on the deck delirious from agony, writhing in convulsions with blackened and distorted faces and blistered bodies.

The deck of the fireroom was covered with hot water from the exploded boiler to the depth of two or three inches, and in this the injured men lay, every second adding to their terrible scalding they had received. Fifteen were dying or dead when they were taken to the ship's hospital and others were fatally injured.

SEIZED BY BOERS.

Portuguese Territory Entered and a Republic Proclaimed.

Advices received from St. Paul de Loanda, capital of the Portuguese colony of Angola, in West Africa, state that a large body of Boers has entered the colony and proclaimed a republic. The Portuguese force is not sufficiently large to repel the invasion, and unless Portugal is able to send reinforcements the Boers will retain the territory already seized and expel the Portuguese from it.

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT.

Adlai E. Stevenson, of Illinois, Nominated at Chicago.

Closing Scenes of the Democratic National Convention.

The National Democratic Convention, at Chicago, completed its ticket by nominating Adlai E. Stevenson, of Illinois, to be the Vice-Presidential candidate of the party, and then adjourned sine die.

The delegates were slow in gathering, and at 2 o'clock, the hour to which the convention adjourned, after its all-night session, at which Cleveland was nominated for the Presidency, not over 100 of them were in their seats.

At 2:55 Chairman Wilson pounded the table with his zinc gavel and called the convention to order. Most of the delegates were in their seats, and the galleries were quite well filled. The Chairman introduced the Rev. Alfred Green, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, who delivered the invocation.

Immediately after the prayer the Chairman announced that the next order of business was the naming of candidates for the nomination for Vice-President.

The following four candidates were placed in nomination for the Vice-Presidency: Isaac Pusey Gray, of Indiana; Adlai E. Stevenson, of Illinois; John L. Mitchell, of Wisconsin; Allan B. Morse, of Michigan.

Then the Chairman ordered the roll to be called upon four candidates. Everything went along smoothly and without excitement until Iowa was reached, when it was announced that Governor Boies's State would cast her twenty-six votes for Colonel Henry Watterson, of Kentucky.

Montana cast five votes for Bourke Cockran. The sixth vote from Montana went to Judge Lambert Tree, of Chicago.

New York turned the tide for General Stevenson by casting her solid seventy-two votes for him, thus putting him forty-two ahead of Gray, but Pennsylvania evened matters by giving her sixty-four votes to the Indianian. As the contest became closer and closer, the cheering became general and the excitement increased.

At the request of Colonel Watterson, Iowa withdrew her twenty-six votes from him and gave them to General Stevenson. The last Territory on the roster had been called at 4:50, and the tally stood Stevenson 402, Gray 343, with Morse and Mitchell dividing the rest between them.

Instantly it was known that Stevenson was in the lead, changes were begun at once. Montana started the business. Nebraska, Nevada, Oregon and Ohio followed. Then pandemonium seized the delegations, and the leaders from practically all the States jumped upon chairs and shouted for recognition.

At precisely 5 P. M. Wisconsin announced her abandonment of Mitchell, her candidate, and gave her whole vote to Stevenson. Then Mr. Cole, of Ohio, moved that the nomination of Stevenson for the Vice-Presidency be made by acclamation. Mr. Hensell, of Pennsylvania, seconded it. Chairman Wilson put the motion and it was carried in most vociferous unison.

While General Collins was speaking on a resolution in regard to the National Committee, one of the ropes which held the big electric lights in place over the center of the auditorium broke and let a lamp down on the heads of the New York delegates. The globes were broken and streams of white electricity shot out from the carbon points. In a twinkling every one in the building was making tracks for the exits. It seems as if there were no possible way out of a panic, which must have resulted in the loss of perhaps hundreds of lives. Fortunately, however, a cool head remained on its shoulders, and with braced muscles a cordon of brave men surrounded the panic-stricken crowd.

The police and the sergeants-at-arms rallied at once in the cause of order. Men and women were seized and with no gentle hand were planted in their seats and held there. At length the panic was reduced and the convention proceeded with its business.

Mr. Hensel, of Pennsylvania, moved that the resolution of General Collins be referred to the next National Committee with an affirmative recommendation and with power to act, and it was carried.

After the usual resolutions of thanks were adopted the convention adjourned sine die.

Sketch of His Career.

Adlai A. Stevenson, the Democratic nominee for Vice-President, is a resident of Bloomington, Ill. He was born in Christian County, Kentucky, October 23, 1835, and received his preliminary education in the common schools of his native county. Later he entered Center College at Danville, and when he was sixteen years old removed with his father's family to Bloomington, Ill., where he studied law and was admitted to the bar. In 1859 he settled at Matamora, Woodford County, Ill., and engaged in the practice of his profession. Here he remained for ten years, during which time he was a Master in Chancery of the Circuit Court for four years and District Attorney for a like period. In 1864 he was named as the Presidential elector for the district. At the expiration of his term of office as District Attorney for Woodford County, in 1869, he returned to Bloomington and formed a law partnership with J. S. Ewing, which still exists.

Mr. Stevenson was nominated for Congress by the Democrats of the Bloomington district in 1874. The district had been safely Republican by an almost invariable majority of 3000. His opponent was General McNulta. Mr. Stevenson was successful. His majority in the district exceeded 1200. He was in Congress during the exciting scenes incident to the Tilden-Hayes contest in 1876. His party renominated him for Congress at the following time. In this contest he was defeated, but in 1878, having been nominated for the third time, he was again elected, increasing his majority in the district to 2000.

He was a delegate to the Democratic National Convention of 1884 in Chicago, and after the election of Cleveland as President of the United States, was appointed First Assistant Postmaster-General.

Mr. Stevenson married a daughter of the Rev. Lewis W. Green, President of the Centre College in Danville, Ky., in December, 1863. He has three children, one son and two daughters, all of whom are living.

General Stevenson enjoys the honor of having founded the first post of the Grand Army of the Republic.

WATERY GRAVES.

Numerous Deaths by Drowning in Various Places.

Numerous reports of deaths by drowning have been received from various parts of the country

Five children were drowned in the Ohio River, at Neville Island, a few miles west of Pittsburg, Penn., the other afternoon. They were Paul Pittock, aged three; Rufus Pittock, nine; Maggie Pittock, twelve, and Ada Pittock, fourteen—children of T. C. Pittock, a prominent business man—and Edna Richardson, aged thirteen, the daughter of a railroader. The children were playing in a buggy that was standing on the high bank of the river, jumping up and down in their play, and the buggy toppled over the bank, throwing all into the water. The current was very swift and only one body was recovered.

Three boys, the eldest eleven years old and the youngest nine, were drowned in the lake at New Libson, N. J. The eldest was the son of Joseph C. Lotts, Superintendent of the Burlington County Almshouse farm, and his two companions were inmates of the Almshouse. They were bathing and one of them got beyond his depth. The others went to his assistance and all were drowned.

Mrs. George Van Hise, well known in Trenton, N. J., was drowned in the Delaware River a few days ago. Mrs. Hise was temporarily insane. It is not known whether her death was the result of suicide or accident.

Frank Weston and George Murray, aged six and eight respectively, quarrelled on a boom at the foot of Mason street, Grand Rapids, Mich. Frank tried to toss George into the river, and both fell in and were drowned.

Two brothers, Joseph and Arthur Fournier, aged fourteen and eleven years respectively, were drowned while bathing in Taunton River, Fall River, Mass.

While bathing in the Morris Canal, at Newark, N. J., ten-year-old William Besett was drowned.

A BATTLE IN EAST AFRICA.

Baron Bulow and His German and Native Force Defeated.

A German force commanded by Baron Bulow and consisting of five Europeans and 150 Soudanese natives, with one gun, was severely defeated in the Moshi Territory, near Kilima-Njaro, East Africa.

It is said that one European and 100 of the Soudanese were killed, that the gun belonging to the force was captured, and that Baron Bulow and another European were among the wounded. The remnant of the force retreated to Fort Marong, which has since been evacuated.

Angora Goats in America.

Mr. Baily, an Angora goat raiser of California, has been in Washington trying to stir up the departments to do something toward obtaining from the Turkish Government permission to export from its territories a few hundred Angora goats for breeding purposes. Mr. Baily owns 10,000 Angora goats, 1000 of them pure-blooded, all of which have been bred from an original importation of four, but he says there is great need of some fresh blood in the stock. It appears, from the statistics gathered in view of the effort to set up a Government goat farm, that the Angora goat industry now exists in thirty States and all the Territories. Six hundred thousand pounds of hair a year are raised here, supplying fine plushes for the Pullman Car Company and other large consumers; yet the industry is still in its infancy, and we import ten pounds of mohair for every pound we produce. The suitability of this important industry to our coast climate is not yet widely enough recognized.—New Orleans Picayune.

American-Grown Tea.

Forty or fifty years ago an attempt was made to introduce the tea plant into this country. Some were imported and planted in the upland regions of North and South Carolina. The trees or shrubs grew, and were found hardy, but the enterprise never paid, or rather cotton paid so much better that it occupied all the attention of planters. Now cotton is under a cloud, and these old tea plantations are coming to the front again. They yield a much better, stronger tea than we can or do import from China. Apparently the Chinese keep the best for themselves and send us only the poorest. We hope to hear that this industry is growing until the time comes when this country will be independent of of China and Japan for its tea supply.—Boston Cultivator.

Deafness Can't be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that we cannot cure by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Set right

—all the proper functions of womanhood. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the remedy. It regulates and promotes their action, and removes the obstructions and suppressions which cause trouble and misery. At the two critical periods in a woman's life—the change from girlhood to womanhood, and, later, the "change of life"—it is a perfectly safe and an especially valuable remedial agent, that can produce only good results.

It's a powerful, invigorating tonic, and a soothing and strengthening nervine; a legitimate medicine—purely vegetable, perfectly harmless—and carefully adapted, by an experienced physician, to woman's delicate needs.

For all the derangements, irregularities, and weaknesses peculiar to the sex, the "Favorite Prescription" is a remedy so certain that it can be guaranteed. If it doesn't give satisfaction in every case, the money is returned. No other medicine for women is sold in this way.

No other medicine can be.
